

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for maintaining a web site including the steps of an apparatus for importing web pages of a web site to a staging server, formatting templates for the web pages, assigning content tags and data types to fields of the templates and designating users for the fields. The templates are populated with input received from users and the populated templates are exported to one or more web servers.

2014 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176